

James H. Pooley, Esq.

During his litigation and trial practice from 1973 to 2009, James Pooley handled a variety of commercial litigation, with an increasing emphasis over time on trade secret disputes and then patent disputes. He has been primary counsel on over 200 trade secret matters, and about 25 patent matters.

During that time, he also acted as arbitrator, judge pro tem and special master in dozens of cases.

Following his return from diplomatic service in 2015 he has acted as litigation counsel in selected matters while focusing much of his work on arbitration, advisory and expert assignments. Recent matters (that is, since 2015) have involved engagements on behalf of the following parties (confidential engagements are not listed): General Electric, Qualcomm, Nomura, Edifecs,

Solar Junction, Broad Institute.
